Alfa Laval wins SEK 50 million brewery order in Indonesia

Alfa Laval – a world leader in heat transfer, centrifugal separation and fluid handling – has won an order to supply a variety of Alfa Laval products to a brewery in Indonesia. The order value is approximately SEK 50 million and delivery is scheduled for 2012.

The Indonesian brewery has ordered an integrated beer cellar which is a complete solution for the different steps in the beer-making process such as fermentation, cooling, filtration, blending and storage. The order includes several Alfa Laval heat exchangers and fluid handling components such as pumps, valves, filters, mixers, tank equipment – plus the new Alfa Laval eDrive high speed separator. In addition the order includes brewery process modules, instrumentation and engineering.

“We have a strong position in the global brewery market where we provide everything from products to systems for new breweries and the Indonesian market continuous to develop in a very favorable way for Alfa Laval”, says Lars Renström, President and CEO of the Alfa Laval Group.

Did you know that… more than 60 percent of the global beer market is related to four brewing groups – and that all four are customers of Alfa Laval’s?
