

CELEBRATE RUPERT BEAR'S 90TH BIRTHDAY WITH LUSH'S LIMITED EDITION MANDARIN TEA PARTY SOAP!

For many families it is a classic English tradition to give Rupert the Bear annuals at Christmas time. For others, mandarins and oranges found at the bottom of a stocking are another warmhearted Christmas favourite. As Rupert Bear celebrates his 90th birthday on Monday 8th November, and with Christmas drawing upon us, what better way to celebrate both traditions than with Lush's Mandarin Tea Party soap (£3.50 per 100g).

Those innovative product inventors at Lush have created this festive, yet Oriental, soap with inspiration taken from the 1969 Rupert the Bear annual in which Rupert travels to a far away land for a Mandarin Tea Party.

This warming and spicy soap made with orange blossom oil, fresh orange juice, crystallized ginger and dried orange slices, will not only soothe and scrub your skin, it will also give your spirits a refreshing lift with the help of neroli oil, known for its mood enhancing properties. As winter takes hold, relax with Mandarin Tea Party soap and you too just like Rupert, can travel to a far away land.

Mandarin's Tea Party soap and lots of other festive Lush products can be found in Lush stores nationwide now. For shop details and mail order contact 01202 668 545 or online at www.lush.co.uk

For more information, images or samples please contact Sarahjane at the Lush Press Office on 020 7434 3948 or email sarahjane@lush.co.uk