

November 2001

£20,000 REWARD
UNIVERSAL PICTURES CALLS FOR HELP!

Universal Pictures has today issued a £20,000 reward for the safe return of a master copy of the new video 'The Best of SM:tv Live so far.....'.which was recently stolen from the Universal Duplication offices in Central London. Copies of the video are already in store, however without the master copy no more videos can be produced to replenish empty shelves. The master copy's disappearance now means that the copies in-store are the only ones in existence.

Rebecca Larkum from Universal Pictures said "We need any information linked to the disappearance of the master copy. The video has been selling well and we are keen to get hold of the missing master copy in order to produce more and meet demand before Christmas – this is why we have offered the £20,000 reward"

If anyone has any information then please call the Universal team on 0207 539 2624/0207 539 2633/0207 539 2653