Personnel reduction at Cements in Skövde

Cement deliveries in Sweden have decreased to the lowest level in 50 years. A continued depressed activity in construction is forecast up to the millenium.

Such low levels imply only 125 days of production in 1997 at Cements's plant in Skövde in western Sweden.

The plant must adapt to the new conditions and has to reduce the number of employees by approximately 30 persons. Today the unit has 90 employees
