Frankfurt, Germany (ots) - Fraport AG (FSE: FRA) Frankfurt Airport Services Worldwide will again be exhibiting at the biennial "Inter Airport 2003", running from October 7 to 10 in Munich, Germany. At Stand B40 in Hangar 4, Fraport will be showcasing technologies and services developed and implemented at Frankfurt Airport (FRA) - Germany's largest airport and one of the Top Ten air transportation hubs worldwide. With its 270 square meter stand, Fraport will be well represented at what is considered the world's most important trade fair for airport equipment and technology. Fraport offers a complete range of services and advanced technical systems, some of which have been developed by Fraport in cooperation with external partners. These include systems for optimized control of traffic on the airport ramp, an innovative aircraft arrival-approach system, and the latest information technology solutions for terminal management. These systems enable Fraport to run FRA as one of world's most efficient hub airports. Another highlight at the Fraport stand will be the massive expansion program for increasing FRA's capacity in the coming years.
