

Nexus has signed a significant contract for a German authority

The contract concerns products for digital identities and the project will be delivered together with one of Nexus partners in Germany. The end-customer is a major German authority.

The order value is Euro 1.9 million spread over a two-year period, and consists mainly of Nexus Certificate Manager, a system for issuance and management of digital certificates in large organisations with high demands on reliability, scalability and security.

For further information, please contact:

Christina Detlefsen, Managing Director, Technology Nexus AB, +46 708 759 435

About Nexus

Nexus is an international company focused on information technology and security. We offer consulting services within the area of information security and provide products for digital identification & signatures as well as products for secured messaging. Nexus enables for its clients to make information, services and processes accessible in a secure way. For more information please visit our web site www.nexus-secured.com.