Cyber Com new member of Ericsson network for mobile Internet

Cyber Com is a new member of The Ericsson Mobile Applications Initiative (MAI), an important network for companies in the fast-growing mobile market.

MAI has been formed by Ericsson to support development of mobile applications based on the new technology. Cyber Com's membership of MAI provides opportunities for testing and evaluating new applications, while enabling an even wider exchange of knowledge and more extensive marketing of services.

"Cyber Com is strong in the field of mobile services, and we are now focusing on developing a powerful niche position within the telecom market, combining broadband and mobility with good enterprise. One of the benefits of MIA membership is the access it gives us to a major international marketplace, which is completely in line with our strategy for the future," says Bengt Levin, Business Area Manager for Telecom and Services.

The Cyber Com Group is a profitable consulting company offering integrated holistic expertise in e-Business and Telecom, with cutting-edge expertise in modern system development, project management and market communication. Turnover for the first half-year 2000 was MSEK 176.2 (89.8), with profit after net financial items of MSEK 15.8 (5.9). Cyber Com is listed on the 'O' list of the OM Stockholm Stock Exchange.
