Sun appoints Mind "the e-integrator of the year"

Mind has had a close cooperation with Sun Microsystems since 1999. Yesterday Mind was appointed "the e-integrator of the year" with the motivation:

"Mind is a competent and swift-footed player in many exciting projects, above all with a Java alignment. Together it is easy for us to find and focus on those parts in an implementation of which each company has a good command."

"We are very happy about the reward. Mind and Sun has a very good cooperation that fully supports our customers' business needs. Sun is an early adaptor of new technologies and there are several exciting projects in which we are looking forward to cooperate, says Jörgen Larsson, CEO at Mind.
