

Sigma signs framework agreement with University of Gothenburg

– Strengthens position in business development

Sigma has signed a new framework agreement with the University of Gothenburg. The three-year agreement, with an option for a one-year extension, covers management services in the areas of business development, strategy, management and control, as well as IT consulting services within systems development, systems administration, infrastructure and project consulting services. The agreement is strategically important for Sigma and will strengthen Sigma's position in the management segment.

Sigma has a long history of working with the University of Gothenburg, having delivered solutions and assignments in the field of IT consulting. The inclusion of management services in this new agreement is significant for Sigma from a strategic perspective.

Through our many years of experience in working closely with our customers' operations, we have established extensive expertise and experience in business development. The framework agreement with the University of Gothenburg confirms our increasingly strong position in this area, explains Göte Berntsson of Sigma.

The University of Gothenburg is one of the largest universities in Europe, with eight faculties, approximately 51,000 students and about 5,500 employees. For more information, visit <http://www.gu.se>.

The framework agreement may also be applied by a number of other colleges and universities in western Sweden.
