

Entra strengthens the offer of advanced data storage solutions by means of a partnership with Sigma System Partner AB

Entra focuses its core operations and enters a partnership with Sigma in order to offer customers within banking and finance even better services within advanced data storage solutions. Within the framework of the partnership Sigma takes over Entra's operations within advanced data storage solutions including a staff of five.

Within the framework of Entra's total obligation to customers within banking and finance, advanced data storage solutions constitute an important part of the offer. The partnership gives both parties advantages since they can focus and expand within their respective core operations. Both parties strengthen their respective offers within advanced data storage solutions where Entra, in this way, gains access to a broader and stronger range of services via Sigma. With Sigma's geographical presence in the markets that are closest to hand in Entra's international expansion the partnership also suits well in Entra's expansion plans.

Having access to critical business information around the clock is becoming all the more important for primarily companies within banking and finance. Advanced data storage solutions mean improved opportunities for customers to guarantee access to critical business systems and data in open network solutions.
