

Sebastian Carlsson new Press Officer at Saab

Sebastian Carlsson has been appointed new Press Officer at defence and security company Saab. He takes up his position on August 14.

Sebastian Carlsson was most recently employed at the Prime Minister's Office where he has been Press Secretary for Prime Minister Fredrik Reinfeldt.

"Sebastian Carlsson has a good understanding of both communication and politics, and also has documented experience from planning, executing and evaluating press work. Sebastian will be an important asset in a more open and visible Saab," says Carina Brorman, Senior Vice President and Head of Group Communications at Saab.

As Press Officer Sebastian Carlsson will lead the team at Saab Press Center and play a valuable role in making the company more open and transparent.

"Saab is a global company driving the development of future defence and security technology and part of an industry that affect major parts of the society, in Sweden and around the world. I am looking forward to join a company that is part of this landscape and that is increasing its efforts to initiate debate and dialogue," says Sebastian Carlsson, incoming Press Officer at Saab.

Sebastian Carlsson is 28 years old. Prior to his position at the Prime Minister's Office, Sebastian held several positions within the Moderates, including Press Secretary and acting Press Officer. He has also had municipal positions of trust, which he now leaves.
