Gunilla Fransson takes over Saab Communication

Gunilla Fransson is the new Managing Director for the business unit Saab Communication. She has worked in the industry for 22 years, has international experience and most recently held a position as product and development manager at Ericsson Enterprise.

"It will be interesting to work with telecom in a context other than the one I am used to. I have worked with communications solutions for operators. Using the technology to make society safer feels very worthwhile", says Gunilla Fransson.

She takes up her post on the 1st of February. Saab Communication's present Managing Director, Thomas Eriksson, will start the hand over to Gunilla Fransson at New Year. He takes up a newly created position within Saab Aerotech where he will develop Saab's collective range within the field of logistics.

Saab Communication offers robust communication systems and services to defense and civil customers. The business proposition encompasses everything from individual services to customized system solutions and support.

Saab serves the global market with world-leading products, services and solutions ranging from military defence to civil security. Saab has operations and employees on all continents and constantly develops, adopts and improves new technology to meet customers' changing needs.
