SaabTech Vetronics fire-control systems - orders to Switzerland and Finland for SEK 750 million

In the last few days, SaabTech Vetronics has received two orders to supply the UTAAS fire-control system to the armed forces of Finland and Switzerland. These orders have an estimated worth in the region of SEK 750 million. The systems will equip the Hägglunds CV 9030 combat vehicle. Finland has ordered 57 systems and Switzerland a total of 186 systems.

The two projects will be conducted in parallel, with initial delivery scheduled for the autumn of 2001, and final delivery in the spring of 2005. On completion of the delivery of these systems, the SaabTech Vetronics fire-control system will have been fitted to a combined total of 950 combat vehicles.

UTAAS (Universal Tank and Anti Aircraft System) is a modular fire-control system for the vehicle's turret-mounted gun. The system offers the latest in night-sight technology, featuring an IR camera, and is gyrostabilized with an independent sight line, ensuring high hit probability against all types of target.

SaabTech Vetronics AB develops and markets Fire Control Systems, Battlefield Management Systems and Electronic Warfare Systems for combat vehicles.

Saab is northern Europe's leading high technology company, mainly active in the defense, aviation and space industry, and offers advanced products and systems based on sophisticated information technology. The business areas within Saab are Infomatics, Aerospace, Dynamics, Technical Support and Services, Space and Aviation Services.
