Hello Delamere Dairy,

My baby girl (Cherokee–Frances) is 11 months and has suffered with terrible eczema ever since she was born. She was constantly scratching herself raw and I lost count of the amount of times that I woke to find her covered in blood through all the itching. All the lotions and medicines that the doctor prescribed did little or no good. When she was 6 months old my dad stumbled across an article that said goats milk could help with skin complaints. So (even though the doctor said he didn't know that you could drink goats milk!) we swapped her from formula to your Delamere Dairy goats' milk and the results were amazing.

Within 24 hours of being on goats milk Cherokee–Frances' skin had calmed down and within 4 days you would not have even known that she had ever suffered from eczema. Her hair is stronger and thicker than ever before and she no longer suffers from the terrible bad tummy that she used to.

I (and Cherokee) want to say a big, big thank you.
