Messier Services International selects Intentia's Movex Aviation software to support international growth

Stockholm, Sweden and Paris, France—Intentia International AB (publ). (XSSE: INT B) today announced that Messier Services International has selected Movex Aviation software developed by Intentia to set up a comprehensive enterprise resource planning (ERP) system for its maintenance, repair and overhaul (MRO) business. Messier Services International, part of the Snecma group of France, signed the contract with Intentia International on January 26, 2001, culminating a vast request for proposals launched in mid-2000.

Valued at over EUR 3 million, this contract covers the implementation of a powerful software solution perfectly suited to the aircraft equipment repair business. Intentia Consulting France, in cooperation with Messier Services France, will define and develop all processes (commercial, production and financial) throughout the rest of this year. Operational start-up is scheduled for mid-2002. The software will be installed at Messier Services France initially and then be gradually deployed throughout the network, including Messier Services America (Washington, D.C.), Messier Services U.K. (Gloucester) and Messier Services Asia (Singapore).

Messier Services International selected Movex Aviation in order to take advantage of a standard product capable of managing the specific requirements of aviation maintenance. Movex Aviation features a real-time management approach covering all aspects of MRO, while Intentia's industry expertise offers the supporting consulting services.
