Ericsson/Hewlett-Packard and Framfab in partnership

EHPT, the joint venture between Ericsson and Hewlett-Packard, and Framfab, today announced a new partnership in the development of wireless applications, which will be effective immediately. The new partnership will leverage ™jalda's Internet payment platform and Framfab's wireless technology expertise to develop market-leading wireless applications.

This partnership has resulted in the creation of a new series of wireless payment applications. Framfab, the third largest Internet professional services firm in the world, and EHPT will work together to build applications and increase market share for jalda™, an Internet payment standard.

"We're very excited about our partnership with EHPT," said Robert Eisenberg, CEO
