

Argela Selects GIPS to Ensure High-Quality Mobile VoIP for Its Customers

Türk Telekom's TT WiRO Service Eliminates Mobile Roaming Costs, While Providing HD Voice from GIPS

San Francisco — March 9, 2010 — Global IP Solutions (Oslo Børs: GIPS), the leading provider of IP multimedia processing solutions, announced today that Argela Technologies, a subsidiary of Türk Telekom, Turkey's leading telecom provider, has integrated GIPS VoiceEngine™ Mobile to ensure excellent call quality on its TT WiRO calling service. TT WiRO allows customers to avoid international roaming costs.

The TT WiRO mobile soft-client enables customers to be charged under their home or office phone line for calls made from any location either using a Wi-Fi supported mobile phone or laptop. To ensure that callers have the best experience without delay, jitter or echo, Argela selected GIPS to provide carrier-class voice quality.

"TT WiRO provides real benefits to telecom operators by increasing customer loyalty and revenue streams. We depend on GIPS VoiceEngine Mobile to support the TT WiRO service because it's the leader in providing the best quality VoIP while simultaneously resolving persistent IP network difficulties," said Mr. Erhan Lokman Argela Product Director.

"We are excited to be a part of Argela Technologies latest innovation," said Joyce Kim, GIPS' Chief Marketing Officer. "The TT WiRO application provides Türk Telekom's customers a dynamic product that delivers true value and user choice while traveling internationally as well as excellent voice quality from GIPS."

GIPS VoiceEngine Mobile offers application developers, service providers and hardware manufacturers the ability to effortlessly build solutions that offer HD voice, while simultaneously overcoming network impediments.
