

Charity Pamper Evening Helps Leeds Women Unwind

Ladies across the city are invited to be pampered at a Charity event in Leeds City Centre next week to help raise money for deaf and blind children in Yorkshire.

Ladies across the city are invited to be pampered at a Charity event in Leeds City Centre next week.

coHearentVision and the Leeds Deaf Children's Society (LDCS) are hosting a night filled with glitz and glamour where ladies can relax and unwind whilst helping to raise funds for a good cause.

This select pamper evening will take place on Wednesday 16th June 2010 at Centenary House, North Street, Leeds from 5pm - 10pm.

Guests can indulge in complimentary treatments from Samantha Hair Design, makeovers with Estee Lauder cosmetics, Indian Head Massage and many other beauty treatments.

Champagne and canapés will be served and there will also be a designer handbag and jewellery sale and lots more opportunities to fulfil those shopping urges. Guests will also be given the chance to win a five star luxury holiday to the island of Crete.

Tickets cost £10 and all proceeds will be donated to coHearentVision and the LDCS.

Samantha Green, chair of coHearentVision and LDCS, said: We know how hard it is for women to find a few hours just for themselves during the week, so we're hosting an evening full of pure pampering to help the hard-working women of Leeds relax and unwind and enjoy a bit of me time .

It's also for a really good cause and all proceeds from the sale of tickets will contribute towards the trips, activities and facilities that we provide to deaf and blind children across the region to help them lead full and enriching lives.

To attend the pamper evening and help support the work of one Leeds' longest-standing and most valued charities, contact Vicki Roe on 07775 444 004.
