

Teleca's PC Connectivity solution for Android surpasses 10 million deliveries

Malmö, Sweden – November 11, 2010 – Teleca, a world-leading supplier of solutions and services to the mobile industry, today announced that Teleca's PC Connectivity and synchronization software, PC Suite, has been shipped with over 10 million Android devices.

Teleca PC Suite for Android is delivered with leading global handset and consumer electronic suppliers. Exceeding a volume of 10 million units on a platform such as Android shows that Teleca's PC Connectivity solution is trusted and that synchronization of PIM data on all user devices is essential especially as consumers move to multiple device ownership.

This achievement also reflects the explosion in market demand for Android based devices, not only amongst handset vendors, but also with large consumer electronics brands. The demand for PC Suite is further expected to grow as more Operators move away from mass market flat rate data plans, increasing the importance of a local connectivity solution to co-exist with OTA solutions such as those that Google provides as part of the standard Android platform..

Teleca PC Suite is a flexible and scalable local connectivity application featuring:

- Sync Manager for synchronizing PIM data,
- Media Sync for transferring media files,
- Backup & Restore to safeguard against data loss
- Auto Copy for easy transfer of photos and videos captured by a mobile phone.
- SW update for updating and upgrading device software

During 2010, PC Suite has been significantly updated with a richer feature set and a compelling new user interface designed for rich customization. The upgraded PC suite also offers areas for end users to easily interact with customers' web services and popular social networking sites.

Since 2001, Teleca has delivered the PC Suite solution to a range of leading OEMs and shipped it with more than 300M devices globally.
