New book Beautiful Bedrooms & Baths of Texas filled with hundreds of inspiring and sumptuous spaces created by top design professionals

DALLAS—The desire to live stylishly is on the rise worldwide, and Texas is no exception; in fact, its varied landscape, diverse architectural fabric, and remarkably friendly residents form the perfect atmosphere for talented interior designers, architects, builders, and other design experts to produce their finest work. Surveying all of the elements that make bedrooms and baths exquisite, from details like linens and stone to the comprehensive design vision, the new book Beautiful Bedrooms & Baths of Texas presents hundreds of vibrant photographs and interesting descriptions of luxurious rooms created by Texas' most talented. Published by Brian Carabet and Jolie Carpenter, the 396-page hardcover book Beautiful Bedrooms & Baths of Texas (Signature Publishing Group, an imprint of Panache Partners, September 2010) contains more than 300 images and celebrates high style in an inspirational format.

Readers will be amazed that the book's designs are as varied as Texas' topography. Featuring homes in all regions of the state—from the Dallas/Fort Worth Metroplex and East Texas to Austin, San Antonio, and Houston—and a range of designs from timelessly traditional to delightfully contemporary, the book is a beautiful reflection of the collaborative efforts of design professionals and residents. Amidst the diversity, one element is consistent: The desire for luxury as a delicious embodiment of people's dreams, interests, and desires. This universal concept will resonate with readers even as they marvel at these most lavish of rooms.

Readers will experience breathtaking rooms designed by architects like Dick Clark, whose architecture exudes a sleek, timeless expression, and Craig McMahon, who is celebrated for his regional modernist approach that is founded on honest simplicity and efficient design. Within Beautiful Bedrooms & Baths of Texas are the innovative ideas and designs of Sherry Hayslip, Debbie Baxter, and Jane Page Crump, all sure to delight. The meticulously crafted art of Barry A. Martin's fine finishes, Christopher Voss' ironwork, WETSU's tile designs, and their most esteemed peers grace the pages with sophistication. The creativity and craftsmanship showcased here are second to none.
