NEW BURCO COUNTERTOP OVEN IDEAL FOR SMALLER KITCHENS

Glen Dimplex Professional Appliances (GDPA) – one of the UK's leading manufacturers of commercial catering equipment – has expanded its popular range of Burco countertop appliances with the addition of a new compact convection oven that meets the requirements and budgets of smaller kitchens.

Ideal for pubs, cafés and catering establishments making their first foray into food, or for those kitchens where space is at a premium, the plug-and-play Burco Convection Oven offers both simplicity of use and premium performance, without the price.

Featuring a 59 litre fan-assisted oven to guarantee even distribution of heat and faster cooking, the 2.5kW oven boasts a variable temperature range of 0°C - 250°C and is equipped with a viewing window, internal illumination and 0 - 120 minute timer. Although compact in size – measuring just W615 x D615 x H375 – it features two oven shelves with four positions to maximise space and food capacity, making it ideal for pies and pizzas.

Marketing Manager at GDPA, Jon Usher, comments: "Prompted by the popularity of our larger Burco Convection Oven, the introduction of this latest model brings durability and reliability – the hallmark of Burco products - to smaller commercial establishments."

British built to the highest specification, the Burco Convection Oven features a robust stainless steel finish and removable door glass that are both easy to clean. For added safety, it comes complete with non-slip, adjustable feet.

To provide additional peace of mind for the smaller establishment, the oven carries a three-years parts and one-year labour warranty and the backing of GDPA's extensive network of service engineers. An award winning customer care centre also provides unrivalled levels of after sales support, service and maintenance.

The Burco Convection Oven is available via GDPA's nationwide network of wholesalers and distributors with a list price of £650.
