Changes in Adera's Board of Directors

Following the sale of Adera Kommunikation AB, the last remaining marketing communications business in the Group, Adera is now a dedicated IT and business development company. As a consequence of this, Rolf Jansson and Jean-Michel Deligny have today resigned from Adera's board of directors.

Rolf Jansson, the founder of Adera, will continue as working chairman of the board at Adera Kommunikation AB.

Jean-Michel Deligny was elected as a board member in October, 2000, following Adera's acquisition of the marketing communications company Nucleus Ltd, which was sold at the end of last year.
