BlueLabs signs new framework agreement with Ericsson

BlueLabs has signed a new framework agreement for consulting services with the Ericsson Group. The agreement covers systems development of electronics and software.

Ericsson is tightening demands on its suppliers in this procurement. Through the agreement, BlueLabs strengthens its role as one of Sweden's leading consultants in mobile telephony and telecommunications.

"We are proud and pleased that Ericsson again has selected BlueLabs as a supplier," says Ulf Pettersson, President of BlueLabs. "BlueLabs has great confidence in Ericsson's technology and future development. With our extensive experience and competence in telecommunications, we are convinced that we can be a strong supplier."

BlueLabs has built environments at its offices for the development and verification of customers' products. Among other things, it has invested in its own AXE stations and testing network for mobile telephony.
