London, 6 January 2003: Linklaters was the lead law firm on M&A deals worldwide, according to the annual legal advisory league tables released today by Thomson Financial.

In a difficult year for merger and acquisition activity, Linklaters raced from fifth position in 2001 to the top of the global table in 2002 while consolidating its position as top legal adviser on European M&A work.

Among the significant deals upon which Linklaters advised were the recommended cash offer by RWE for Innogy and the acquisition of BT Group and SBC Communications' stake in Cegetel by Vodafone.

In global terms, Linklaters advised on 295 announced deals with a total value of $226.4 billion in 2002. Clifford Chance jumped from thirteenth position in 2001 to second in 2002 advising on 251 deals with a total value of $202.8 billion. Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom improved from eighth position in 2001 coming third, advising on 187 deals worth $173.4 billion.

Jones Day Reavis & Pogue achieved first place in the worldwide ranking for legal advisers based on the number of announced deals. Jones Day Reavis & Pogue advised on 350 deals with a total value $111.1 billion. Linklaters, Clifford Chance and Weil Gotshal & Manges followed.

In Europe, Linklaters topped the table ranked by the total value of announced deals involving a European target or acquirer with 233 deals valued at $133.9 billion. Clifford Chance followed with 208 deals with a value of $121.1 billion. Ranked by completed deals, Linklaters came first followed by Shearman & Sterling and Freshfields Bruckhaus Deringer.

Thomson Financial announced on 3 January the end-2002 figure of $476 billion for the total value of completed deals in Europe, a fall of 14.6% on 2001. Worldwide figures saw a fall of 40% in the total value of completed deals to $1,313 billion. The total value of deals completing in the Americas plunged by 52% in 2002 to $560 billion.

The value of M&A transactions announced in the European market has fallen by 18% on 2001. The total value of M&A deals involving a European target or acquirer stood at $564.6 billion compared to $692 billion for the whole of 2001.

Among individual European countries, Germany is most badly hit. Total deal value was down 28% from $79.1 billion last year to US$57.1 billion in 2002. The UK was down in line with the European average, falling to US$151 billion from US$170.5 billion. Both France and Italy, however, have surpassed 2001 levels: France growing just over 13% to US$79.5 billion and Italy up 17% on last year to US$55.7 billion.

Among the sectors to exceed last year's deal values is energy and power, up to US$99.5 billion worth of deals this year, compared with US$85.4 billion last year and now accounts for over 20% of European M&A, more than any other sector.

However, financial institutions saw deal value for European targets fall 44% from US$129.5 billion in 2001 to US$72 billion this year. Financial institutions only accounts this year for 15% of total European M&A, its lowest level for 10 years. Telecommunications has also suffered badly again in 2002, dropping from an already disappointing level of US$50.6 billion in 2001 to US$33 billion in 2002.
