Terraplay Systems AB signs distribution agreement with Eurogamer Network Ltd.

Terraplay Systems and Eurogamer Network Ltd have signed an agreement which will see Terraplay reselling Eurogamer's multi-platform online lobby solution "OILS" to game service providers, publishers and developers. The Eurogamer OILS product, which provides a range of advanced lobby and community solutions for networked games, has been optimised to work with the Terraplay Systems online network technology and the combined products constitute an excellent offering.

As previously announced, Terraplay is currently deploying an online network, lobby and community solution for Sony Computer Entertainment Europe's PlayStation®2 title "This is Football". It is based on Eurogamer's OILS lobby technology and Terraplay's network technology.

"This agreement allows us to offer to operators and service providers sophisticated and advanced lobby functionality with community features for PC and console games. It also gives us the possibility to adopt and tailor the functionality for an operator or a special game need", says Jeremy Lewis CEO of Terraplay Systems AB.

Rupert Loman, Director of Operations for Eurogamer Network Ltd. added, "We are delighted to have Terraplay as a partner. We are looking forward to working with them in applying our combined online gaming expertise to "This is Football", as well as future console and PC games."
