Lisbon, Portugal – Copenhagen	Re-intro route: Wednesdays, Fridays, Sundays
Lisbon, Portugal – Stockholm	New route: Tuesdays, Fridays
Palma de Mallorca, Spain – Stockholm	New route: Wednesdays, Sundays
Skopje, Macedonia – Copenhagen	New destination: Mondays
Split, Croatia – Copenhagen	New destination: Saturdays
Split, Croatia – Stockholm	New destination: Saturdays
Valletta, Malta – Copenhagen	New destination: Saturdays
Valletta, Malta – Stockholm	New destination: Wednesdays, Saturdays
Venice, Italy – Stockholm	New destination: Mondays, Fridays

"The expansion is a response to the increased demand in the leisure travel markets during the summer season," says Ludmilla Lindecrantz, head of snowflake. "snowflake's direct flight connections provide fast and easy access to some of the most beautiful areas in the world, regardless of which way you are travelling."

One-way fares in the www.flysnowflake.com simple booking system starts at EUR 58/ USD 66 to Copenhagen and EUR 67/GBP 47/USD 78 to Stockholm, including all taxes and charges. snowflake's booking centre at +45 7766 1005 applies an additional EUR 3/GBP 2/ USD 4 service charge per flight leg. snowflake is also sold through some travel agencies.

In the summer program 2004 snowflake will continue traffic between Copenhagen and Alicante, Belgrade, Istanbul, Malaga, Palma de Mallorca, Pristina and Sarajevo. snowflake will also continue to fly between Stockholm and Alicante, Athens, Belgrade, Bologna, Budapest, Istanbul, Lyon, Malaga, Nice, Prague and Rome.

More than 400 000 seats have so far been booked on snowflake and the interest among travellers continues to be high. During September the sold seat factor was 82 percent. Since operation started 30 March, www.flysnowflake.com has had 2,7 million visitors.
