

2004-06-10

www.tradix.com is growing rapidly

The recently started trading place for EVERYTHING. House vendors can in there ads show a video with the interior of all rooms. The buyer who wants to negotiate about the price of an antique chair can connect himself from the ad and chat directly with the vendor.

Tradix has in a short time succeeded in attracting advertisers to its Internet service from companies as well as private persons.

The great interest in Tradix depends on the fact that private people advertise free of charge. Moreover you can only attach pictures and home made videos for their ads.

This unique possibility is based on the new smart Peer-to-Peer (P2P) technology, a development of predecessors like Napster. Examples of companies that have chosen to make use of Tradix.com as an advertising place are among others Dell AB, and CDON.com. You can also see ads from about 30 single shops and restaurants in Birkastan in Stockholm, Sweden that can be seen through their respective video ads.

Visit the Web site www.tradix.com or contact us in info@tradix.com