President's comments

Continuing positive development of net asset value

Following the recent historic and sharp decline in stock markets, Investor's net asset value has now increased for five consecutive quarters, driven by positive developments within our holdings, a partial recovery of the capital markets and a more stable economic environment. During the past few years, work within holdings has been focused to a large extent on strengthening of balance sheets, improving operating margins and maintaining market competitiveness. These efforts have produced gratifying results, which is now allowing the companies to focus more on initiatives for the future and continued profitable growth.

A balance between growth and stability creates the basis for competitive growth in Investor's net asset value. During the past few years, we have taken several steps to increase our share of companies with high growth potential while maintaining a balance between the selected business sectors Healthcare, Technology, Engineering and Financial Services. As a whole, companies in which Investor is an owner today have good prerequisites for achieving attractive growth over time.

In the second quarter we increased our underlying position in Scania by purchasing approximately 16 percent of Ainax, a newly listed company holding Volvo's former A-shares in Scania. We have previously stated that we were interested in increasing our stake in Scania, which had experienced an uncertain ownership situation. The fact that we have a long history with Scania and its industry was a strength in the investment analysis. However, the transaction should not only be viewed as a sound financial investment but also as a step towards finding a satisfactory long-term solution to Scania's ownership.

Scania is a good illustration of a holding in which our ownership position has enabled us to participate in the building of a company during different phases and changing economic environments. We have had an ownership stake in Scania ever since Investor was established in 1916. Scania's ability to be innovative, its product and process development and continuing sound profitability, are impressive.

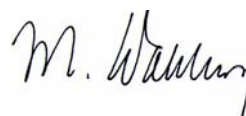

The recently launched "R" truck series, continuing efficiency improvement measures, well-developed service operations and potential in a number of growth markets, build a platform for anticipating positive performance.

Within the New Investments business, comprised of our initiatives in venture capital and buyouts, we are experiencing a trend similar to that for our core holdings. A growing number of companies are now showing improvements in sales and profitability. The recovery of the capital markets has been positive for these activities. For example, we have seen better conditions for initial public offers and trade sales.

The mobile operator 3 launched its first services about a year ago. The first year has been intense and involved a number of challenges. 3's activities are developing positively. 3 has been attracting more and more subscribers in step with the launch of new service offerings and the introduction of a growing number of 3G handset models. 3 will have close to 60 dedicated "3 stores" in Sweden and Denmark by the end of 2004. It is pleasing to note how more and more customer groups are learning about and using mobile broadband services.

Investor has continued its program to reduce costs, which were more than 9 percent lower than in the corresponding period last year. We have also focused intensely on maintaining a strong financial position. At mid-year, Investor's leverage was down to 15 percent, as against 20 percent on December 31, 2003.

Our work to build companies constantly evolves through new phases. Whatever phase a company is in, our role as an owner is to contribute to the company's development with the view to establishing a leading position in its sectors, drawing upon the knowledge and experience in our organization and international network.

Marcus Wallenberg

3 will have approximately 60 dedicated 3 stores in Sweden and Denmark before year-end 2004.

In June, 3 and three other 3G operators submitted an application to Sweden's National Post and Telecom Agency to change the license terms for the 3G buildout in Sweden. As noted in Investor's latest annual report (page 69), the Parent Company was not granted the possibility to completely deduct foreign tax (withholding tax on dividends) and appealed the taxation. The charged tax was not expensed while awaiting the decision of the county administrative court. In the second quarter, the court ruled in Investor's favor on June 23, 2004, giving Investor the right to deduct the entire tax. Investor's earnings will not be affected as a result.

Other

Measures to realign the organization

In the first quarter it was announced that parts of the organization would be realigned and that costs would be reduced within the New Investments business, but also within certain corporate functions. This adjustment process is expected to reduce annual costs by about SEK 75 m. These cost savings will be achieved in full within one or two years.

As a result of these organizational adjustments, close to 30 employees will gradually leave Investor. As of June 30, 2004, approximately 20 of these employees had left Investor. Investor's wholly owned investment organization had 160 employees at the end of the six-month period.

Information about affiliated parties

In accordance with market practice and the principles applying to previously established EQT funds, senior staff in EQT and members of EQT IV's investment committee may subscribe for shares in a company that administrates the new EQT IV fund. In his position as chairman of EQT IV's investment committee, Claes Dahlbäck has subscribed for 2 percent of the company's capital, which carries the obligation to provide approximately EUR 500,000 for investments that the company makes in the fund. This is done on the same terms that apply to Investor and other partners.

Accounting principles

When preparing this net asset value report, the same accounting principles and calculation methods have been applied as those used in the preparation of the latest annual report and the formal interim reports, with the following exceptions:

- In net asset value reports, holdings in associated companies are reported in accordance with the acquisition value method; in the annual report and interim reports, associated companies are reported in accordance with the equity method.
- As of January 1, 2004, Investor is applying Recommendation No. 29 of the Swedish Financial Accounting Standards Council. The effect of adopting this accounting principle, which is reported as a change in shareholders' equity, applies to the calculation of pension commitments and amounts to SEK -100 m.

- As of January 1, 2004, other administrative expenses in Novare, The Grand Group, EQT and Investor Capital Partners – Asia Fund are reported under "Cost of goods and services sold" in the consolidated income statement. Comparative figures have been adjusted accordingly. These costs were previously reported under "Operating costs".

Valuation principles for New Investments

The valuation of listed holdings within New Investments is based on the share price of each company on the last business day of the reporting period, less 10 or 20 percent, depending on the liquidity of the company's shares and any limitations to the disposal rights to the company's shares.

For unlisted holdings, Investor uses a valuation method in which the holdings are valued at acquisition cost, less any write-downs. The valuation, and if relevant, any need for write-downs, is determined quarterly on the basis of the market's development and the performance of each company in relation to its plan and budget.

Unlisted holdings in funds are valued on the basis of the underlying value of their holdings at the lower of acquisition cost and fund manager's valuation. Listed holdings are valued as described above. For funds in which Investor has a holding of less than 10 percent, or is inactive in the fund's activities, the main rule is that Investor uses the valuation that the fund manager makes of all holdings in the fund. However, the fund is never valued higher than Investor's acquisition cost. If Investor's evaluation is that the fund manager's valuation has not given sufficient consideration to factors that can negatively affect the holdings, the value may be written down.

Reporting in accordance with IFRS

In accordance with the requirements that listed companies in the EU will have to meet as of 2005, Investor is preparing to adopt the International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS).

Based on current IAS/IFRS and the proposed amendments to these standards, Investor has identified the principles and internal procedures that will have to be changed to comply with the regulations. For Investor, it is primarily the rules in IAS 39, encompassing the reporting of financial instruments, which will affect reported figures, compared with today. The recommendation specifies that financial instruments, comprising investments in equity instruments and the loan portfolio in Investor, shall, in most cases, be reported at fair value, instead of at the lower of acquisition value and fair value currently used. To the extent that changes in fair value are reported in the income statement, they will generate greater volatility in results, compared with current principles.

When financial instruments are shown at fair value, reported shareholders' equity in Investor's formal reporting will approach Investor's net asset value (assets less liabilities at fair value) and the income statement will show the development of the investment portfolio's value to a greater extent than before.

The introduction of IAS/IFRS will also significantly impact the reporting of employee stock option and share programs. In accordance with IFRS 2, which applies to share-based payments, such payments are to be recognized as an expense in the income statement as the issued employee stock options/shares are vested.

In accordance with IAS 16, which applies to property, plant and equipment, the reporting of property used within operations is based on a component approach, which for Investor will involve changes to procedures for capitalizing and depreciating such property. These changes are estimated to have a very limited impact on the income statement and balance sheet.

The above scenarios, and the exact classifications and measurements that Investor will use to report in accordance with IAS/IFRS, will depend on the outcome of the current proposed amendments to IAS 39 and which recommendations that the EU will endorse for implementation in 2005.

Interim reports in 2004

In the interim reports for 2004, Investor's associated companies are reported in accordance with the equity method in the consolidated income statement and balance sheet. As a consequence, Investor waits for the interim reports of associated companies before it prepares its own formal interim report. However, for the purpose of providing financial information to the market as quickly as possible, Investor releases two reports per quarter (see "Upcoming financial events"): a net asset value report that is based on the acquisition value method, like earlier interim reports, and a formal interim report prepared in accordance with the equity method.
