

Semcon chosen as preferred supplier by Gambro

Semcon has signed a framework agreement with Gambro Lundia AB, where Semcon has been chosen as the preferred supplier for design, development and technical information.

"Semcon has worked with Gambro for almost ten years and we are currently carrying out assignments in both Sweden and Italy. The contract is an important stage of our strategy to grow in medi-tech and gives us greater potential to cooperate with Gambro," says Peter Hedberg, Semcon's General Manager for Medical Devices.

Medi-tech is one of the development-intensive industries that Semcon is significantly prioritising and has extensive experience of. Semcon is currently active in a number of medi-tech segments and has extensive skills in design, construction, inbuilt systems, testing and verification, technical information and project management.
