Intralot engages Terraplay technology to provide cross platform multiplayer gaming

Stockholm 2006-05-02. Gaming infrastructure provider Intralot uses Terraplay's system MOVE for online and mobile gaming Intralot, a leading global supplier of integrated gaming and transaction processing systems has selected Terraplay's technology for its B-On platform. Terraplay is a leading supplier of multiplayer and connected gaming solutions.

Intralot has integrated Terraplay's MOVE system to enable optimized communication over mobile telecommunication networks to Intralot's B-On gaming platform. All games of B-On extended gaming library, including poker and other casino games, lotteries, fixed odds betting, and wagering on skill games, are playable as cross-platform between mobile and web.

Intralot is expanding aggressively into the online gaming arena", says Spiros Pachnis, Director of Alternative Channels Business Unit at Intralot, "and the cooperation with Terraplay has allowed us to bring out a very exciting and powerful proposition based on new gaming content which combines skill and chance elements and leverages multiplayer functionality on both web and mobile capable digital devices."

"Terraplay and Intralot have cooperated closely over the last year to bring out cross platform multiplayer gaming", says Sven Hålling, CEO of Terraplay, "and we are excited by the new business opportunities emerging from the capabilities of combining play-for-prizes and wagering rich content real-time multiplayer online gaming as these are realized by the B-On platform."
