

Newly appointed CEO commits to taking Apptus Technology to the next Level

Due to the increasing demand for the Apptus search engine, new CEO makes international expansion a priority

Effective immediately, Apptus Technologies, the search engine company is pleased to announce the appointment of Mr. Michael Atlevi as the company's new CEO.

Prior to joining Apptus, Mr. Atlevi held a multitude of senior management positions within Telelogic and Ideon Science Park in Lund, Sweden. With over 23 years of senior management experience, Mr. Atlevi comes at an opportune time within Apptus' history. Having monopolized the search engine market across Scandinavia, Apptus is now ready for international expansion and Mr. Atlevi has been selected as its leader who will spear head this effort.

"I am looking forward to working with the entire Apptus management team in making our geographical and financial expansion a reality says Mr. Atlevi. "Working for a smaller organization means decisions are made faster, and customer requirements are met at a faster and more efficient pace" says Mr. Atlevi.
