First North is an alternative marketplace for small growth companies, providing a world of opportunities on the Nordic and global financial markets. It gives companies greater visibility and ease of access to Northern Europe's largest pool of capital, combining the benefits of being on-market with simplicity. First North is a part of OMX Nordic Exchange. That means that the companies admitted to trading at First North are given the same possibilities as large companies, but the regulations are lighter.

Varmekyl Grossisten Scandinavia AB is a Sweden-based retail company that engages in the sale, installation and service of energy-saving heating and cooling products for indoor climate. The Company provides air to air heaters, air to water heaters, woodfire stoves, insulated windows, cooling equipment and air conditioners. The Company sells cooling and heating products from distributors and producers such as AutoTerm, Fortum, LG, NIBE, Panasonic and Sanyo. It is operational nationwide in Sweden and is starting operations in Finland. Varmekyl Grossisten Scandinavia was founded in 2003 and is headquartered in Sollentuna, Sweden. During 2006, the turnover was SEK 177 million.
