Acando delivers SharePoint to NARF

Together with Acando, The Norwegian Association of Authorised Accountants (NARF) adopts a document management tool to support the organization's quality control of member agencies. The choice was made for Microsoft SharePoint.

"We wanted a system that could streamline the process of quality control of the member agencies. To achieve this we have chosen to replace communication via e-mail, with a document management solution that protects and stores documents during the quality control. It is also important for us that the system is easy to use and at the same time maintains the security in the process," says Iram Riaz, head of IT operations and development in NARF.

Microsoft SharePoint is a versatile technology that enables organizations and businesses of all sizes to streamline business processes and improve productivity.

With tools for collaboration that help people stay connected across organizational and geographic boundaries, SharePoint gives access to the documents and information they need. The collaboration environment can be accessed through a well-known web based interface and common tools, including Microsoft Office. The familiar and intuitive look and feel of SharePoint, enhance quick distribution, with less need for training and support.
