Fire incident at one of ProfilGruppen's production facilities

Late last night, a fire broke out at one of ProfilGruppen's production facilities for extrusion of profiles. The production at the unit is halted for the time being and cleanup work has started. The extent of the damage, and thus also the duration of the production interruption, will be investigated during the week.

“Fortunately no one has been injured by the fire, which is after all the most important”, says CEO Claes Seldeby.

“We will do our utmost to maintain the service level to our customers and have already initiated relocation of existing customer orders to our other production facilities”, Claes adds.
