

Exclusive invitation to book release party in Rome

The Cash Management Challenge: How to Do More with Less

On October 12th, OpusCapita, a company that helps organisations become more agile, efficient and productive by automating their financial processes, cordially invite you to the evening event.

We will be celebrating the release of OpusCapita's highly anticipated book The Cash Management Challenge: How to Do More with Less.

This book provides answers to a range of topical questions, such as how the rapid growth in responsibilities of the finance department should be tackled. Cash management processes can be significantly improved through automation by allowing finance professionals to manage their work successfully, no matter how demanding the tasks have become. The book is aimed to finance professionals as well as IT professionals, board members, CEOs, business owners, and in fact, for anyone interested in the topic.

Please come and enjoy tasty Italian food and excellent wines with us.
